- CANVAS – CAU Online Course System

CANVAS –CAU ONLINE COURSE SYSTEM

CANVAS, Clark Atlanta University's online course system, is an appendix to the course syllabus. The instructor for this class uses CANVAS to allow students to access class materials, including discussion questions, the course syllabus, and other useful links. The instructor also uses CANVAS to administer assignments and exams, grade assignments and exams, give individualized feedback on assignments and exams, post student grades, and set up Zoom video conferences with students. Each assignment/exam in this class is graded only in its designated folder under the Assignments tab on CANVAS. You will receive zero points for an assignment or exam SUBMITTED in the wrong folder on CANVAS. DO NOT SUBMIT ASSIGNMENTS THROUGH EMAIL NOR CANVAS inbox; otherwise, you will get zero (0) for each wrongly submitted assignment. So carefully read the assignment/exam instructions before you submit an assignment/exam on CANVAS.

1. For the required assignments/exams requiring graphs and calculations, all workings and calculations must be presented using the step-by-step format demonstrated by the instructor in class. Failure to follow this format will result in a score of zero for the assignment/exam.

2. All graphs must first be created in PowerPoint (as discussed during class and as set out in the Instructor's PowerPoint presentations on CANVAS), saved as images, and then inserted into the required single Word document for the relevant assignment/exam. Failure to follow this procedure will result in zero points for the assignment/exam.

HYFLEX CLASS SESSIONS

The course is Hyflex because it allows you to be physically present in the classroom or be on Zoom for the following scheduled class discussions in blue in the course schedule. All students must be physically present for the remaining class discussion sessions. For us to have interesting and engaging interactions during the flexible classes, you must have a computer to use for Zoom or in the classroom, depending on your decision. I will ensure that I arrive in the classroom 10-15 minutes before the start of each flexible class discussion session.

If you elect to be on Zoom for each of the three flexible classes, you must adhere strictly to the following to avoid (a) being marked absent and (b) being kicked out of Zoom meetings:

1. Turn on your Zoom video from the start to the end of class.
2. Maintain eye contact with the speaker on the screen from the start to the end of class.
3. Dress appropriately.
4. Make sure your full name shows up appropriately.
5. Mute until you are required to talk.
6. Turn off/silence your cell phone from the start to the end of class.
7. Neither drive a car nor be a car passenger.
8. Do not use your phone to be in scheduled Zoom meetings.
9. Use your laptop or Desktop computer to join scheduled Zoom meetings.

You are required to show your consent to the HyFlex class sessions in blue via CANVAS inbox with the message I consent (a) to attend the class sessions in blue on Zoom and (b) to the Zoom meeting rules. You are free to change your mind: if you consent to be on Zoom for a particular HyFlex class session, you may change your mind and come to the in-person session that class day. Communicate any change to me via CANVAS inbox, not email.

Please ask me to schedule a one-on-one Zoom meeting with you if you have concerns about any of the Zoom meeting rules.

CANVAS Assignment Submission: The required assignments/exams must be submitted in the designated folder under the Assignments tab on CANVAS. You will get a 10-point deduction for each unanswered question in each exam/assignment. For each appropriately submitted assignment/exam, CANVAS will immediately conduct plagiarism and AI use analysis using Turnitin and other methods. To avoid zero points for an assignment/exam, do not attach assignments/exams in a CANVAS message, and do not attach an assignment/exam in its designated CANVAS folder. Submit assignments/exams in their respective designated CANVAS folders. Do not attach assignments/exams on CANVAS. An assignment/exam is considered appropriately submitted if you and the instructor can see the level of plagiarism associated with the submitted assignment/exam on CANVAS. You will receive zero points if you submit an assignment as a PDF document when the instructor requires you to submit the assignment as a Word document. You will receive zero points if you submit an assignment as a Word document when the instructor requires you to submit the assignment as a PDF document. You will receive zero points if you submit an assignment in a document form contrary to the required document form. The instructor will not take questions and concerns two days before each assignment/exam deadline day. For example, if an assignment/exam is due on Thursday of a week, the instructor will not take questions or concerns on the Tuesday, Wednesday, & Thursday of the week in which the assignment/exam is due.

CANVAS Plagiarism and AI Use Detection: Be the original author of your works in PAD 504. CANVAS reports the following about plagiarism and AI use by a student: the copied words and sentences; the pages of the copied words and sentences; the name(s) of the copied student(s); the date(s) of the original assignment(s) or works (whether in previous or current CANVAS courses); and the sources including, but not limited to, CANVAS courses, the internet, books, journal articles, and government documents). Both the original author(s) and the plagiarizer(s) will earn zero points for the affected assignment if all the affected students are in PAD 504; otherwise, only the plagiarizer(s) will earn zero points for the affected assignment.

AI Use Detection: The instructor uses multiple tools to check for AI use in writing assignments. Avoid AI use in writing your assignments and exams in this class to avoid a failing grade for the course. No second chance, please. You will score zero points for the exam/assignment if you use AI, including ChatGPT and Copilot.

APA Format In-text Citations and Bibliography

You will score zero points for an unlabeled/unnumbered response in each exam/assignment. You will also score zero points for failure to include APA format in-text citations in your discussion and APA format bibliography/references based on the video @<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=N2yWk0Dlpt4>. Do not number your references/bibliography.

CANVAS Communication with the Instructor: Use only CANVAS to communicate with the instructor. The instructor will respond to CANVAS messages only. The instructor is also available via Zoom video conferencing, which will be set up at the request of each interested student. A link to each arranged Zoom conference will be sent to each of the affected students in a CANVAS message. For class announcements from the instructor, each student is fully responsible for checking CANVAS modules, CANVAS messages, and CANVAS announcements. The instructor's Lecture Notes are available under the Modules tab on CANVAS.

GENERAL REQUIREMENTS

You should come to class for firsthand information; otherwise, the instructor cannot help you understand the material if your smiling and excited face is not in class. You should put in the necessary work to complete the required assignments and exams in this class and keep up with the pace of the class. If you do not work to keep up with the class, you will find the required assignments and exams to be quite difficult to complete. Consistent and punctual class attendance is required. You will find the material covered in this course to be difficult if you do not attend class regularly and punctually.

Students are invited to contact the instructor with questions, comments, and concerns. The instructor will enthusiastically provide support and encouragement to make this course a positive experience for every student. Please note that your colleagues' thoughts and decisions on this course and the required assignments and exams do not translate into the instructor's thoughts and decisions about the course. You are individually responsible for your work in this class. Talk directly to the instructor for yourself, not for somebody else, if you have concerns.

GRADING SYSTEM

Assessment	Points Possible	Due Date	Final Grading Scale
Problem Set 1	80 points	03/26/2026	A = 360 - 400 points
Problem Set 2	80 points	04/16/2026	B = 320 – 359 points
Midterm Exam	90 points	03/05/2026	C = 280 – 319 points
Final Exam	90 points	05/07/2026	F = Below 280 points
Weekly Discussions	60 points	Course Schedule
Total Points Possible	400 points

Problem Sets 1 and 2 (Group Assignments): Students are required to complete two problem sets throughout the semester. Each Problem Set tests students on the application of microeconomic tools for addressing market failures. The instructor will post the questions and grading criteria for Problem Set 1 and Problem Set 2, respectively, in the Problem Set 1 Folder and the Problem Set 2 Folder on CANVAS. Students must complete the problem sets as take-home assignments and submit each problem set as a single Word document in the right Problem Set folder on CANVAS. Due dates: by 6 pm on March 26 for Problem Set 1; by 6 pm on April 16 for Problem Set 2. You will score zero points for each problem set if you are not the author of the problem set. The original author will also score zero points. The instructor may allow students to complete Problem Sets in groups of 3-4 each.

Midterm and Final Exams (Group Assignments) are two exams planned for this course. The midterm exam (due by 8:30 pm on March 5) is based on the microeconomic content of the first part of the course. The final exam (due by 8:30 pm on May 7) covers the whole course. The instructor will post the questions and the grading criteria for the Midterm Exam and the Final Exam respectively in the Midterm Exam Folder and the Final Exam Folder on CANVAS. Students must submit each exam in one single Word document in the right folder on CANVAS by 8:30 pm on the due date for each exam. You will score zero points for each exam if you are not the author of the exam. The original author will also score zero points. Note that the graduating students must submit their final exam by May 1; otherwise, you will not graduate in May. The instructor may allow students to complete Midterm and Final Exams in groups of 3-4 each.

Weekly Discussions (Individual Assignments): Each student is required to complete six (6) weekly discussions in this class. In each weekly discussion, each student is required to do two (2) things: (a) respond to the questions posted under the Discussions tab for that week and (b) clearly use facts and evidence (not guessing, not speculation, not personal experience) from course information to constructively evaluate and assess at least one colleague's post for that week. In-text citations and references based on the APA format show that you have facts and evidence in your discussions and evaluations. In evaluating your colleague's post, do not write "I like your post", "your post is great", "I am thinking just like you", "you did an excellent job", "I agree with you". Each weekly discussion is due in the designated CANVAS folder by the specified deadline on CANVAS and in the course schedule.

Class Participation (Individual Assignment)

Regular and punctual class attendance is mandatory from 6 pm to 8:30 pm each class day. You will be deducted three (3) points for each class day you miss without a valid excused absence granted in writing by the instructor. Excessive absences may lead to a final grade reduction. You are expected to read all assigned readings before each class meeting and be prepared to discuss the readings and ask relevant questions to clarify your understanding of the material. Remember, in-class participation means taking an active part during class discussions. The best way for you to develop and sharpen your capacity to think is for you to be actively involved in class discussions. Each student must be prepared to lead class discussions. Class participation is, therefore, crucial in this class. You should come to class prepared to contribute to class discussions by synthesizing the assigned readings, identifying and discussing the value and utility of the readings, and providing thoughtful comments on the contributions of other students.

Students should avoid any form of class disturbance. Therefore, all cell phones or pagers must be on the off mode during class meetings and failure to comply will be penalized. Friends or visitors can only come to class with the instructor's permission.

ASSIGNMENT SUBMISSION AND LATE SUBMISSION

All assignments/exams must be submitted in their respectfully designated CANVAS folders by the due date for each. Problem Set 1, Problem Set 2, Midterm Exam, Final Exam, and Weekly Discussions will be graded only in their respective designated CANVAS folders. You will, therefore, score zero points for submitting an assignment/exam in the wrong folder on CANVAS. You will also get zero points for doing any of the following: (i) submitting an assignment/exam via CANVAS inbox and email, (ii) attaching an assignment/exam in its CANVAS folder, and (iii) submitting an assignment as a photo document. The late submission penalty, for Problem Set 1, Problem Set 2, Midterm Exam, and Weekly Discussions, is a five-point deduction for each day following the due date for each of the assignments/exams. The late submission ends once the assignment/exam is graded on CANVAS. Make a late submission only with the permission of the instructor and in the right assignment folder on CANVAS. No late submission is permitted for the Final Exam. You will score zero points for the failure to submit the Final Exam in its CANVAS folder by the specified deadline.

WITHDRAWAL POLICY

Should you decide to drop this course at any time, you must do so by yourself. Failure to drop a course because of not passing or because of excessive absences will result in an "F" grade at the end of the semester. To receive a grade of "W" you must drop the class by the University recommended withdrawal date, which is by 5 pm on March 27, 2026.

MAKE-UP EXAM

No makeup exams/assignments in this class, except for the reasons accommodated by our University. Students are advised to complete and submit each assignment/exam by the deadline.

Clark Atlanta University is committed to providing students with a documented disability an equal opportunity to pursue a college education. Efforts will be made to meet requests for reasonable accommodations for those eligible under the Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA) of 2008, the Rehabilitation Act of 1973 and Section 504. Students with disabilities are encouraged to contact the Office of Counseling and Disability Services at (404-880-8044) located on the 3rd floor of Trevor Arnett Hall to discuss accommodations. ACADEMIC DISHONESTY/PLAGIARISM POLICY

Academic dishonesty in the form of plagiarism is antithetical to the policies and philosophy of Clark Atlanta University. Plagiarism involves the use of another person's ideas or works as your own. Therefore, the use of another person's works or ideas must be properly cited and should include the author's name, publication date, publisher's information, and the publication title. If an assignment/exam contains plagiarized material - whether the material is taken from books, from journal articles, from the internet, and/or from another student - it is subject to the following penalties: a failing grade for the assignment/course, a warning, and severe disciplinary action from the university, including expulsion (See the Student Handbook for additional information).

Your behavior must be befitting of a Clark Atlanta University student, as the Code is enforceable for violations on or off the campus.
